Naifless Horse Shoe.

Daniel Deemer, who is here from Colorado, where he has been for a year and where he expects to locate in the future, showed us an invention of which he holds a patent, this week, and which consists of a naifless horse shoe. The shoe can be adjusted to the horse's hoof almost instantly and tight enough to hold under all conditions. He says that it has been in use for six months experimentally, and fills the bill completely. It saves driving nails into the hoof, and can be removed any time for the benefit of the foot. It was invented by C. N. Crannel, of Rocky Ford, Col., and Mr. Deemer expects to go into the manufacture and sale of the device on a large scale. Without knowing much about horse shoes one would naturally suppose this would be a valuable improvement over the old method of caring for horses' feet.—Bryan (O.) Press.

When the Trego county gold craze was on some Topeka men drilled two holes 1800 feet deep and struck artesian water at several levels. First it was fresh, then it became salt, and when they quit they left a strong flow of soda water, which, mixed with liquor, made a fine drink. But they were not after water. They were after gold, and when they found they had been duped by a little Dutch chemist from the East they pulled out and left the country. But they didn't stop the water, which continued to flow in huge quantities into Smoky river. The holes along the holes along the stream, before the soda water began flowing, were full of fish which used to beguile the boys of the country. Now these holes are deserted. Even the boys use them for swimming holes no longer. The water is good for nothing except to make hightails, and out in that country they take their liquor straight if they take it at all. So the county commissioners have ordered the gold men to fill up the holes and stop the flow of water.—Kansas City Journal.

My friend, you think that you cut a considerable swath in this part of the world, don't you? You are a very small pumpkin. This section got along pretty well before you came. It will manage to wiggle along after you are gone. Before the grass is growing over your grave in the cemetery people will have forgotten you. People will pass along your old familiar haunts with not a thought of you. The Almighty didn't make this world dependent upon any one person. Some men get the idea that it all depends upon them, but they are away off. You may hang out a pretty good bluff to your wife, your children and even some of your neighbors, but that is as far as you will get. Just be calm and don't worry. We will try to get along after you are gone.—Village Deacon in Osborne Farmer.

The Lot of a Wyoming editor—Editing a newspaper is a nice thing. If we publish jokes people say we are rattled-brained. If we don't, we are fossils. If we publish original matter, they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them selections, they say we are too lazy to write. If we don't go to church, we are heathens. If we do go, we are hypocrites. If we remain at the office, we ought to be looking for news items. If we do go out, then we are not attending to business. If we wear old clothes, they laugh at us. If we wear good clothes, they say we have a pull. Now, what are we to do? Just as likely as not some one will say that we stole this from an exchange. So we did. It's from the Wyoming Derrick, Dillon (Wyo.).

Tourist Cars Popular.

The idea that an inferior class of people patronize the tourist sleepers is an error. On many trips only the best class of travelers are found. They are merely men and women of good sense who would rather travel to California in this manner and save a snug sum of money to be used elsewhere. It is beginning to be understood that it is by no means necessary for the traveler to spend a large sum of money in order to enjoy a trip to the Pacific Coast.

If you cross the continent in one of the tourist sleepers of the Union Pacific you will enjoy your trip and save considerable money. Inquire of R. E. Morse, Agent.

TWO DAYS IN KANSAS.

From Bryan (O.) Press.
May 17th, 1906. Trego County, Kan.
Edito Press.—I will give you an account of our stop in Kansas with the Grim Brothers, formerly of Pulaski, Ohio. We drove fifteen miles from Wa-Keeney at 3 a. m. Tuesday out to the ranch. We forded two rivers before daylight on the way, and about 5 o'clock got to the ranch. All tired and sleepy but ready to go see sights. Byard Grim, raises Red Polled cattle on his ranch of 640 acres. Has 32 head of cows and 32 head of 1 and 2 year old heifers, and 20 spring calves. Now those cattle are something fine, they raise as fine alfalfa hay as I ever saw raised. Byard has 100 acres and Ernest has 12, they mow four crops off this alfalfa, in a season.

Alfalfa, now is about knee high. I find 50 ton of alfalfa hay left over from last year and 1500 bushels of old corn and 1000 bushel of oats. They have their corn all planted and up, they have 125 acres of wheat out, that looks well, and 40 acres of oats. Potatoes and all garden vegetables are doing well. The boys are both doing well. Our boys and the Grim children armed with three guns, roamed the prairie for jack rabbits. They killed 32 in all and one large snake.

Ernest is farming Byard's land while Byard's time is taken up in tending cattle.

We drive this afternoon to see Steward Shorthill on our way to Wa-Keeney where we take the train to-night at 9:20 for Washington.

Truly yours,

GEO. DICK.

NEW GAME LAW.

With the prospects good for better hunting than we have had for several years, many of our readers have become anxious to know something of the law passed last winter and which went into effect June 1. Following we give a brief outline of the portion of the law applicable to western Kansas:

The law fixes a license of $1 a year for each resident hunter and $15 a year for each non-resident hunter.

Non-resident hunters must obtain their licenses from the secretary of state. That official will give them license cards. He will send the warden duplicates and keep stubs in his office. In that way the warden will know exactly how many non-residents licenses are issued. Resident licenses will be issued by the county clerk. He will turn the money over to the county treasurer and he, in turn, will turn it over to the state treasurer, where it will be deposited in the fish and game fund, the same as the money collected by the secretary of state. The county clerk will give the applicant a license, send a duplicate to the state warden and keep a stub himself.

A hunter's license card will be about the same size as a railroad annual pass. It will contain the name of the applicant, his license number, his age, weight, height and color of his hair, for identification purposes. The license is non-transferable.

On the back of the license will be printed the dates of the open season for game in the county. They follow: Prairie chicken—September 15 to October 15.

Quail—November 15 to December 15.

Doves—August 1 to September 15

Plover—July 15 to September 15.

Geese brant and duck—September 1 to April 15.

In other states the license also covers fishing, but it isn't necessary to have a license to fish in Kansas. Farmers want a strong law regulating hunting so that they can handle the city hunters, but they are not so particular about a fish law because they often go fishing themselves and get on their neighbor's land.

The game law permits a farmer to hunt on his own premises without taking out a license.

A deputy warden is to be appointed in each county, but the appointment has not yet been made for Sheridan county and we do not know who will be the man. In the meantime hunters should procure their license at once for we understand there is no telling how much game there is to be seen when you are without a license, the same as has always been the case when you did not have your gun.—Hoxie Sentinel.
